The Aerospace Medical Association (AsMA) is the international leader in aerospace medicine, and its mission is to promote the health and safety of pilots, astronauts, cabin crews, passengers, and other aerospace personnel. The AsMA Foundation was created in 2007 to help professionals and students in the field of aerospace medicine. The Foundation offers financial support for educational and scientific programs, awards, scholarships, research grants, and travel support for students/residents. Charitable gifts to the Foundation., a 501(c)(3) corporation, are deductible to the extent allowed by law. Visit online at asmafoundation.org.
